Plaque

In Memory of
Richard Fletcher Broadrick
Lieut R. N.
of High Wray Bank
who was drowned when crossing Windermere Lake on the ice
Jan 31st 1879 - aged 46 years
Gentle he was as woman in his way
But strong and manful, and his spirit moved Doing unknown, the simple good he loved
In quiet rectitude from day to day.
In knowledge of himself, too wise to lay
Blame to what other's fault he disapproved:
The sinner by his silence was reproved,
Won by his sweetness would no longer stray.
To him did high and low a welcome send,
But most he knew the open cottage door:
Sought by the friendless, first among the poor,
The rich had need of such an honest friend.
But ah! His hand will never greet us more,
Swift, and in peace, he crossed to yonder further shore.
This memorial was erected by the parishioners of Wray to one they loved and honour.
